

Curriculum Vitae

Bareena Silverman

Bareena.Silverman@gmail.com

City College of New York Biology Department, 526 Marshak Building, 160 Convent Avenue, New York, New York 10031

1. Education

- 2010- Ph.D. in Biology, City University of New York. Advisor: Dr. David Lohman
2007 M.S. in Entomology, The Ohio State University. Advisor: Dr. David Horn
1999 B.S. in Entomology, B.A. in Philosophy, The Ohio State University

2. Publications

- 2008 Silverman, B., Horn, D.J., Purrington, F.F., and Gandhi, K.J.K. Oil pipeline corridor through an intact forest alters ground beetle (Coleoptera: Carabidae) assemblages in Southeastern Ohio. Environmental Entomology 37(3): 725-733

3. Selected Presentations

- 2006 Silverman, B., Horn, D.J., Purrington, F.F., and Gandhi, K.J.K. Carabid succession along a corridor through Southeastern Ohio (USA) forest. Presentation, Entomological Society of America, Indianapolis, Indiana. December 10-13
- 2002 Silverman, B., Horn, D.J., and Purrington, F.F. Assessing the impact of the construction of a corridor through previously intact forest at Deep Woods Farm: a preliminary report. The Ohio Biological Survey Annual Meeting, Columbus, Ohio. November.

4. Grants and Education Funding

- 2010 CUNY Science Scholarship. $24,000.00
2005 Foreign Language Area Studies (FLAS) Grant for Kichwa Language and Culture in Tena, Ecuador. $3,000
2004 FLAS Grant for Portuguese Language and Afro-Brazilian Culture in Salvador, Bahía, Brazil. $3,000
2002 The Ohio Biological Survey Small Project Grant. $500.00
2001 The Ohio Biological Survey Small Project Grant. $500.00

5. Selected Professional Experience

- 2011- Graduate Teaching Assistant/Adjunct Lecturer, City College of New York
2007 Biology Instructor, Einstein Enrichment Program, Albert Einstein College of Medicine
2002-2006 Graduate Teaching Associate, The Ohio State University Introductory Biology Program
2001-2002 Graduate Teaching Associate, The Ohio State University Department of Chemistry

6. Professional Organizations

Society of Systematic Biologists (SSB); Association for Women in Science (AWIS); Entomological Society of America (ESA)